

Course: starting and managing your private practice in psychology

Address: <https://asadis.net/en/course/starting-managing-private-practice-psychology/>

Duration: 4h

Type of course: Continuing education

Location: Online course

Individual price: $144.00

Overview:

Most professionals in helping roles will be self-employed at some point in their career. This training is designed to cover the essential topics related to private practice. You will discover what type of entrepreneur you are and how to build on your strengths. This training will also cover the different types of private practice structures so you can evaluate which one is right for you. In addition, basic legal and financial aspects will be presented and explained with concrete examples. This training will then focus on how to manage and administer your private practice, and necessary forms to get started will be put at your disposal. Finally, tips and tricks will be presented so you can maintain a healthy balance while being your own boss. The main objective is to give you a toolbox to start, maintain, or modify your private practice as needed.

Learning objectives:

1. Determining if starting your own business is for you and finding a suitable personalized formula
2. Defusing typical fears encountered by those wishing to start a private practice
3. Providing practical information about key aspects of starting a private practice

Learning material:

This workshop includes theory as well as clinical examples. It includes videos ranging from 5-15 minutes in length. The PowerPoint of the workshop can be downloaded.

Audience: This training is intended for mental health professionals.

The expert

Dr. Valentina Munoz, psychologist, is a clinical psychologist specializing in cognitive-behavioral therapy

(CBT) for treating anxiety and stress-related issues in adults. She earned her PhD in clinical and research psychology from Université de Montréal, Canada, in 2005.

With extensive experience in private practice, Dr. Munoz provides psychotherapy and offers workshops for both the general public and mental health professionals. Her work focuses on anxiety disorders, burnout prevention, resilience, and stress management.

Dr. Munoz spent 10 years at the Douglas Mental Health University Institute, where she treated individuals with severe anxiety disorders and complex co-occurring issues, while also supervising PhD psychology interns. She has also served for many years as an external resource for the Canadian Armed Forces, supporting veterans coping with PTSD.

Valentina Munoz is a licensed member of the Ordre des Psychologues du Québec and is fluent in French, English, and Spanish.
